

Stuck in quarantine
Others greed is so obscene
Natures cruel & nasty trick
Making the vulnerable so sick

Standing alone in alone in a line beware
Socially distancing to show you care
Isolation is no laugh
But we must all go down that path

Watching the world whilst on hold
Is a strange thing to behold
Who knew the new social divide
Would be 6 feet wide

Our lives on pause for now it seems Destroying all of our dreams
Mindsets getting blown away
Producing these crazy days

No communication in the street
Only the brave dare to speak
Its enough to make you scream
Too slow rolling out vaccines

Just hoping to get through Regain some joy for me & you chorus

Breathe in fresh air
Dispel that despair
